The American Business Women's Association
Presents:

“Equal Pay and the Wage Gap”

Presented by

Sandy Schrah - Business Project Manager
General Motors Customer Care & Aftersales

So, what is Equal Pay and the Wage Gap, what is all the hype about, why do we celebrate an equal pay day -- come and listen to Sandy share what the American Business Women's Foundation (ABWF) team has learned, what you should know and how each and everyone of us have a role to play. You will also learn what ABWF is and the role we play to ensure you have the facts and are in the know.

Sandy's career has evolved from Administrative Assistant to Clerk to creating and training inventory control process within parts warehouses. One of the highlights of Sandy's career came when she was chosen to coach, train and facilitate value stream mapping workshops in the pursuit of implementing lean concepts in the office environment. She became known for her problem-solving skills, supporting project teams in implementing change, listening to the words being said and transform them into a process map that told the story of the work being accomplished and required changed.
